SPRING CONVOCATION 2024

MEMORIAL UNIVERSITY | CORNER BROOK

TERRITORY ACKNOWLEDGEMENT | Corner Brook

We acknowledge that the land on which we gather is in traditional Mi'kmaw territory, and we acknowledge with respect the diverse histories and cultures of the Beothuk, Mi'kmaq, Innu, and Inuit of this province.

WHY WE DO TERRITORY ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is an Indigenous practice to acknowledge the land and territory that you are on. When Indigenous Peoples visited other Indigenous Peoples, they acknowledged their territories.

Land is sacred to Indigenous Peoples, and ways of being and knowing come from the land. Land acknowledgements recognize the unique and enduring relationship that exists between Indigenous Peoples and their traditional territories. They are a way to recognize and respect the original peoples of the territory upon which the university is situated. Land acknowledgements are a way to share space with Indigenous Peoples and a reminder of the generosity of Indigenous Peoples for sharing the land with visitors.

MEMORIAL'S MISSION

Memorial University is an inclusive community dedicated to innovation and excellence in teaching and learning, research, scholarship, creative activity, service and public engagement.

Memorial welcomes and supports students and scholars from all over the world and contributes knowledge and expertise locally, nationally and internationally.

For more information on Memorial's plans, activities and the current President's Report, visit www.mun.ca/presidentsreport.

HONORARY DEGREES

Candidates for honorary degrees may be nominated by any member of the community to the Senate Committee on Honorary Degrees and Ceremonial which, after due consideration, forwards its recommendations to Senate for approval.

To be considered for an honorary degree, candidates must normally have been benefactors of the university, or persons who have achieved eminence in learning or in the arts, or those who have otherwise distinguished themselves by outstanding public service.

HARRIET BURDETT-MOULTON

Harriet Burdett-Moulton was born in Cartwright, Labrador, and has Inuit, British and Montagnais roots. She spent her early life in a traditional nomadic lifestyle, as her mother was determined that she would not go to a residential school.

Ms. Burdett-Moulton graduated from Memorial University with a bachelor of education degree in 1969. She graduated from TUNS, now Dalhousie University's School of Architecture, in 1976.

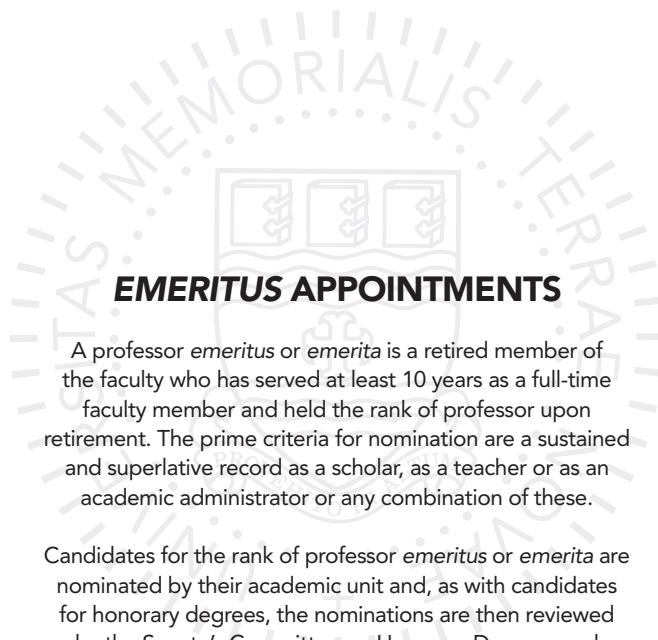

After becoming the first registered Indigenous woman architect in Canada in 1979, she and her husband moved to then Frobisher Bay, N.W.T., now Nunavut, where the couple started the first architecture firm in the eastern Arctic.

For more than 40 years — and with 200 design projects in her portfolio — Ms. Burdett-Moulton has had a distinguished career in architecture with a special focus on Indigenous Peoples and the Canadian Arctic.

A project of great significance to Ms. Burdett-Moulton is the Piqqusilirivik Inuit Learning Facility in Clyde River, Nunavut. Piqqusilirivik, which roughly translates as “a place to keep the things we’ve learned,” is the first cultural learning facility built in North America. Other projects of significance are the new community plan for Natuashish, Labrador, and the Mushuau Innu School in Natuashish.

In 2016, she was made a fellow of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada. She is also a member of the institute’s Indigenous task force. In 2017, she was awarded a Labradorian of Distinction medal. In 2018, Ms. Burdett-Moulton was one of the representatives of Canada at the Architectural Venice Biennale. She has received honorary degrees from Carleton University and the Ontario College of Art and Design.

For her remarkable career in architecture that has celebrated and centred Indigenous Peoples and the North, Harriet Burdett-Moulton will receive the degree of doctor of laws, honoris causa.

EMERITUS APPOINTMENTS

A professor emeritus or emerita is a retired member of the faculty who has served at least 10 years as a full-time faculty member and held the rank of professor upon retirement. The prime criteria for nomination are a sustained and superlative record as a scholar, as a teacher or as an academic administrator or any combination of these.

Candidates for the rank of professor emeritus or emerita are nominated by their academic unit and, as with candidates for honorary degrees, the nominations are then reviewed by the Senate's Committee on Honorary Degrees and Ceremonial. Having reviewed the nominations, the committee forwards its recommendations to the University's Senate and then to the Board of Regents for consideration.

The professor emeritus being presented at spring convocation 2024 in Corner Brook is

Dr. Ian G. Warkentin

ACADEMIC DRESS

The academic dress for matriculated undergraduates of the university shall be similar to the scholar's gown of the University of Oxford. It shall be worn whenever the president so directs.

The bachelor's gown shall be of black stuff. The master's gown shall be of black stuff or silk. The doctor's gown shall be of fine scarlet cloth or silk or of black stuff or silk.

The pattern of the bachelor's gown shall be similar to that of the Oxford bachelor's gown. The pattern of the master's gown and the doctor's black gown shall be similar to that of the Oxford master's gown, except that the doctor's gown shall have an edging of black silk braid at the opening of the sleeve. The doctor's scarlet gown shall be similar to that of the Oxford doctor of divinity gown.

The bachelor's hood shall be made of black stuff, the master's hood of black silk and the doctor's hood of scarlet silk. They shall be full in shape and lined with the university colours of claret and white. The bachelor's hood shall be trimmed with white fur and the tippet with velvet in the distinctive colour of the faculty or degree. The master's hood and tippet shall be edged with velvet in the distinctive colour of the faculty or degree. The doctor's hood and tippet shall be edged with silk in the distinctive colour of the faculty or degree. However, the doctor of philosophy hood shall be of claret silk and lined and edged with claret silk.

The university hood, designed to be worn by Memorial representatives who hold a degree and who are participating in official ceremonies, shall be made of black stuff and lined and edged with claret and white silk.

The bachelor's and master's cap shall be black and square, with a black tassel. The doctor's cap shall be similar to the Oxford doctor's bonnet.

The academic dress for the officers of the university shall be as follows:

Chancellor – a silk gown heavily embroidered with gold braid

Vice-chancellor – a silk gown embroidered with gold braid

Pro vice-chancellor – a silk gown embroidered with gold braid

HISTORY OF CONVOCATION

In June of 1950 Memorial University held its first convocation, which was a fairly simple affair. Led by engineering professor Dr. Jack Facey (who would later perform the role of convocation marshal for 46 years), the students and faculty moved from the Parade Street campus across to St. Patrick's School hall for the conferring of undergraduate degrees. The university presented its first graduate degrees in May 1956 and its first honorary degree in May 1960.

The ceremony for the first honorary degree, presented to Monnie Mansfield, who had been Memorial's registrar for 30 years, served as a dress rehearsal for the most elaborate convocation the university has ever held — that for the opening of the Elizabeth Avenue campus in October 1961. Overseeing the arrangements were Dr. Facey as the marshal of convocation, responsible for the organization, direction and decorum of the occasion, and Dr. G.M. Story as the public orator, responsible for the delivery of the orations about the honorary graduands, a special feature of Memorial's convocations. Nineteen honorary degrees were conferred on a galaxy of local, national and international dignitaries. That day, the public orator and his deputy each had to deliver as many as 10 orations, each a concise but rhetorically lively account of the rationale for conferring the degree.

From 1961–1968 convocation was held in the gymnasium of the Physical Education building. With the opening of the St. John's Arts and Culture Centre, Memorial in effect acquired a new convocation hall, which became the regular site of the ceremonies after 1970. Designed partially on the ideas of former premier Joseph Smallwood, the back of the stage with its descending staircase was developed specifically for Memorial's convocation. Fall convocation was inaugurated in 1970 to accommodate increasing numbers of graduates and to support the three-semester academic calendar.

In May 1992, 23 graduates received degrees in the first regular session of convocation held at Sir Wilfred Grenfell College, Memorial's Corner Brook campus (now Grenfell Campus).

The ceremonial trappings of convocation were developed in the early 1960s. Memorial's academic robes are based on those of Oxford University. Chancellor Lord Thomson donated the silver mace — the symbol of the university's authority and the presence of which signals the official opening of convocation — in 1961. Former university marshal Bert Riggs donated the marshal's staff in 2021.

Campbell Macpherson, Newfoundland and Labrador's third lieutenant-governor, presented the original chancellor's chair and lectern in 1963. Other complementary birch wood furniture pieces were subsequently commissioned from the St. John's firm of Clarmanis and Son Ltd.; the chairs bear the university's coat of arms and are hand-carved and painted in bas-relief. Dr. Facey gifted the signing table to the university in 1996.

In 2002 plans were made to create a second suite of convocation furniture so that a complete set would permanently reside at each of the St. John's and Corner Brook campuses. Ian Stewart, a retired Memorial University designer, undertook the design of the new suite, which reflects the culture and traditions of the province; Paterson Woodworking of Upper Amherst Cove was commissioned to construct the set. Dr. Edward Roberts, the province's 11th lieutenant-governor, presented the first piece: a black walnut table with a fish-splitting motif.

Honorary graduate Alan Perry donated the kneeler in 2005. Dr. Roberts and his brother, Douglas, sponsored the signing table and bench, completed in 2005, as well as the chancellor's chair and the four companion chairs, which were completed in 2006. They also donated the two speaker's lecterns, which were completed in 2007. The Roberts's contribution was made in memory of their father, Dr. Harry D. Roberts, a graduate of Memorial University ('31), an honorary graduate of Memorial and a member of the Board of Regents for many years.

The desire to share the ceremonies beyond the audience seated in the convocation hall led to television coverage of the ceremonies beginning in the 1970s and, more recently, webcasting (by the university's Centre for Innovation in Teaching and Learning unit), which brings the ceremony to the world virtually via the university website at www.mun.ca. Other university units that play a role in convocation include the Office of the Registrar and the School of Graduate Studies, which ensure that students complete their programs and are certified for their degrees; Student Life, which co-ordinates the logistics of this special event and assists the graduands with preparations for the ceremony and the celebrations surrounding it; and Alumni Engagement, which welcomes graduates into the Memorial University Alumni Association.

Convocation has been a day of pride for thousands of students and more than 600 honorary graduates, resulting in more than 100,000 alumni members worldwide. While Memorial's convocation, as a ceremonial occasion, has grown from the practices and procedures of older universities, after more than half a century it has become a distinctive event for all who attend, be they distinguished guests or faculty, honorary graduates or our students who are, as they should be, the focus of the event.
