

HSS-Nexus Centre Fall 2025 Interdisciplinary Graduate Course

Summary

The primary aim of the Nexus Centre's Interdisciplinary Fall Graduate Course (HUMN code) is to propel graduate collaboration and thinking in the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences through an elective graduate course open to all HSS graduate students. HSS tenure-track and tenured faculty are encouraged to apply. The faculty member's department will receive a PCI contract to compensate.

Graduate students should apply for the course (through the Nexus Centre; student complement determined by instructor) in the first week of September with a short application indicating how the course relates to (1) their research goals and (2) their program, in coordination with their supervisor (if any). The course would require a minimum of five students to go ahead.

Benefits

- 1) One 60-hour GA-ship in the Spring/Summer to assist with the preparation of the course;
- 2) Use of the Nexus Centre to teach the course;
- 3) The possibility of adding the award, dissemination, and public engagement activities to one's CV.

Requirements

Application deadline: May 1, 2025 (11:59pm)

Please send submissions to nexus@mun.ca

Application requirements

- 1) One-page overview indicating:
  - Course title;
  - 150-300-word course overview;
  - Indication of disciplines engaged (minimum of two);
  - Breakdown of topics covered over 12 weeks;
  - Bibliography (optional).

Timeline

Thursday, May 1, 2025	Faculty application deadline
Tuesday, September 9, 11:59pm (lectures begin 8/09/25)	Student application deadline
Professor determines course meeting times
Friday, December 5, 2025	Fall semester ends