

Interprofessional Education (IPE) at Memorial

IPE occurs when learners from health and social care programs at Memorial learn with, from and about each other to provide quality patient-centred care.

CALL FOR FACILITATORS, 2022/23

The Centre for Collaborative Health Professional Education (CCHPE) offers seven major IPE events per academic year. Learners complete these activities in small interprofessional groups. Facilitators volunteer from a variety of backgrounds; faculty, staff, residents, graduate students and clinicians can all excel in this role.

What Do Facilitators Do?

- Guide and support learners through interactive, learning activities.
- Lead group discussions and provide context from their own practice experiences
- Assess short learner assignments and reflections and provide feedback
- Moderate and stimulate discussions, responding to and commenting on learner posts
- Contribute to curriculum development and revision

Rewards of IPE Facilitation

- You may claim IPE facilitator training as professional development credit hours
- You will develop new skills to be able to deliver IPE curriculum
- IPE Facilitation looks great on CVs and teaching dossiers
- You will build relationships with the next generation of health/social care practitioners
- You will gain expertise with collaborative care skills that can be applied to your own practice

Facilitator Opportunities

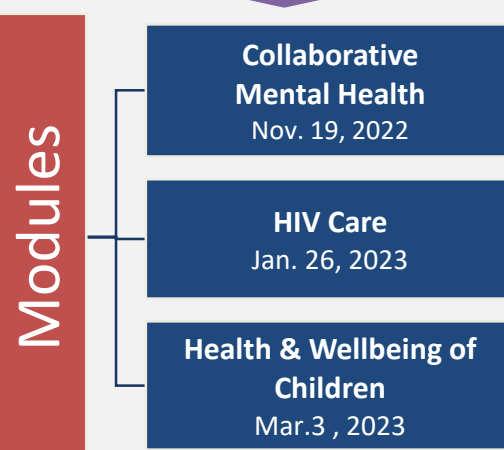

1. IPE Skills Training Series

- Learners complete entire series in the same team
- Contact us if you can guide a team through the entire 2-year series!

2. Independent Case-based Learning Modules

Different learner groups for each module

Find out more or volunteer today!

To learn more about the role of the facilitator and discuss the level of commitment involved, please contact Adam Reid, IPE Coordinator at adam.reid@med.mun.ca, or visit www.med.mun.ca/CCHPE. A CCHPE staff member can answer any of your questions.