Course #: Social Work 3221-700 (Nunavut Arctic College BSW Cohort)
Course Title: Social Impacts on Human Development
Course Schedule: Three (3) Week Period – Monday, November 23, to Friday, December 11, 2026
Campus Location: Nunavut Arctic College, Cambridge Bay, NU
This is an in-person teaching assignment requiring travel to Cambridge Bay, Nunavut, and the successful candidate must be available to remain in Cambridge Bay for the duration of the three-week course. Travel and accommodation expenses will be reimbursed by Nunavut Arctic College in accordance with applicable NAC policies and procedures.

Course Description:

This course addresses how theories, concepts and information related to human development must be considered in the context of social issues and impacts in order to inform social work practice with vulnerable populations. The impact of issues such as violence, addictions, poverty, trauma and oppression are examined, as are strengths and resilience of human beings. Strategies to address social impacts on human development are explored.

Required Knowledge, Skills, and Qualifications:

Demonstrated knowledge of human development within diverse social contexts and of the ways in which social issues and conditions, including violence, addictions, poverty, trauma, and oppression, can affect human development and well-being. Demonstrated ability to engage students in critical analysis of these social impacts, including strengths and resilience, and to support the application of relevant theories, concepts, and strategies to social work practice with vulnerable populations.

- A graduate degree in Social Work.
- A minimum of five (5) years of social work experience.
- Knowledge of and experience working with Inuit communities, including an understanding of social factors affecting human development, Indigenous approaches to practice, and Inuit Qaujimajatuqangit (IQ) principles.
- Knowledge and experience incorporating Inuit and other Indigenous ways of knowing and being into teaching and course materials.
- Previous teaching experience at the post-secondary level.
- Current registration as a Social Worker.

Teaching Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to:

- Be available to travel to Cambridge Bay, Nunavut, and remain there for the duration of the three-week course, and comply with applicable Nunavut Arctic College (NAC) travel policies and procedures.
- Deliver three hours of scheduled instruction per day for the duration of the three-week course.
- Hold regular office hours outside of scheduled class time to support students.
- Respond to student inquiries in a timely manner.
