

Division of Population Health and Applied Health Sciences

Courses:

MED 6250 001 Basic Clinical Epidemiology (in person)

MED 6288 001 Policy and Decision Making (in person)

MED 6288 081 Policy and Decision Making (online)

MED 6721 001 Disease and Injury Prevention (in person)

MED 6731 001 Public Health Nutrition (in person)

MED 6722 001 Environmental Health (in person)

MED 6724 001 Communicable Disease Prevention & Control (in person)

MED 6701 001 Public Health Seminar II (flexible)

Number of positions: To be determined based on enrollment

Hours: 60 hours per semester for full time appointments and 30 hours per semester for half time appointments

Duties: The successful applicants will carry out some or all of the following duties, to be determined by the course instructor: mark assignments, provide support for hybrid/remote course delivery, manage discussion threads on D2L, respond to student email correspondence, identify and present supportive teaching material, facilitate tutorials, create and contribute to discussion points with classes, coordinate online meeting rooms for students, weekly course administrative tasks, provide feedback and follow up to students' reflective logs, student assessment and feedback, other related duties as required.

Duration: Winter Semester 2026 (15 weeks)

Qualifications required: Applicants who have completed a Master's program and are currently working on a PhD in a medical related field are preferred, although current MSc students can be considered.

Application deadline: Wednesday December 22th, 2025 by 5:00pm

Apply to: Email phahs.admin@mun.ca. Please provide list of related course work and any previous relevant teaching experience as well as name and email of one reference. Please indicate which course(s) you are most interested in being assigned.

These positions are covered by a Collective Agreement between TAUMUN and Memorial University of Newfoundland